Oak Knoll Books specializes in the sale of books about books, a large field encompassing books on bibliography, printing, binding, illustration, papermaking, bookplates, type specimens, calligraphy, bookselling, publishing, book design, book-collecting, and examples of fine printing. In addition to antiquarian and out-of-print books on these topics, we also stock a variety of imprint titles. Oak Knoll Press publishes books about books and we welcome manuscripts of publication proposals in this field.

We take pride in helping to build book collections and reference libraries and give prompt attention to want lists. As we have a computerized database, we have the ability to search our inventory for specific authors or subjects very rapidly and can form custom catalogues based on your interests. We are always interested in purchasing single volumes or collections, because without these purchases, we would be nothing more than an empty building with empty bookcases.

We are located in a charming colonial two with a number of bed and breakfast establishments and hotels nearby. Our shop is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Monday through Friday, and weekends by appointment. New Castle is about 2 hours north of Washington, D.C., 1 hour south of Philadelphia, and 2 ½ hours south of New York City. We are within 15 minutes of the major railway station in Wilmington, Delaware. We hope you will find something of interest in this catalogue and look forward to hearing from you.

Oak Knoll Books is a member of the Antiquarian Booksellers Association of America (ABAA), which is an affiliated member of the International League of Antiquarian Booksellers (ILAB).

$ 4,500.00

Seven volumes of engravings collected by George W. Casilear. Casilear was an engraver and landscape artist in New York from 1847 to 1852, working with his brother John W. Casilear from 1847 to 1848. Casilear then worked as an editor, secretary and solicitor of patents from 1852 to 1857. In 1862, he became Chief of the Engraving Division of the Bureau of Printing and Engraving. Casilear was instrumental in the redesign of United States currency in 1864.

Casilear was accused in 1878 of “gross misconduct” and a congressional committee chair urged President Rutherford B. Hayes to remove him from office (Herald Tribune, New York, May 2, 1878). Casilear remained, going on to lead an investigation of the counterfeiting of U.S. bonds in 1880. He was finally removed in 1885. News accounts stated that no charges of wrongdoing had emerged, but subsequent reports mentioned “a lack of ingenuity and freshness” in the Engraving Division and noted Casilear’s focus on design rather than engraving (New York Times, April 18, 1885).
The seven volumes include well over 500 engravings mostly from England, continental Europe, with some from the United States. There is no apparent format of organization, but some points are worthy of note. One volume, labeled “Miscellaneous Engravings” includes a number of English engravings attributed to James Virtue, the National Gallery and the Royal Collection. Another, labeled “Engravings,” also has a number of items attributed to Virtue. A third volume, labeled “Scrap Book-Engravings and Etchings by the Old and New School,” includes mainly English, French and German items, with translations into English of some of the French captions. A fourth volume, labeled “Scrap Book,” includes annotations with handwritten biographical information about many of the engravers and descriptive information about the engravings. A fifth volume includes an engraving of President Chester Arthur with a facsimile signature and date, along with French, English, German and American engravings.

Five of the seven volumes are bound in half leather, marbled paper-covered boards. One is bound in leather, gilt decorated, and one half leather, cloth boards. Casilear’s bookplate is on the front pastedown of each volume. The volumes are rubbed and scuffed at the edges. Some foxing. [114553]
40. (Choffard) Salomons, Vera. CHOFFARD. London: John & Edward Bumpus, 1912, 8vo., red cloth stamped in gilt, top edge gilt. 112 pages of text and 29 photogravures.

$ 125.00

The first volume and its supplement of this annual publication for the investigation and maintenance of art and historic monuments. Collection of essays covering a wide range of topics, including eleventh century book illustrators in Salzburg, medieval wall paintings in Italy, studies on Dürer and Michelangelo and a look at Spanish paintings in an Austrian portrait gallery to name a few. The editor of the series Max Dvorák (1874–1921) was the curator of public monuments in Austria and a professor at the University of Vienna. His studies often discussed art as a series of tensions. He believed that art developed in a linear progression, and he often favored the examination of broad art historical concepts over close analysis of individual works. Often controversial, Dvorák was hugely influential. Loose bookplate indicates that this copy was purchased from the collection of H.P. Kraus. Bottom corner of most edges water damaged. Edges of cover rubbed. Back cover scuffed and chipped. [77464]
58. Levis, Howard C. EXTRACTS FROM THE DIARIES AND CORRESPONDENCE OF JOHN EVELYN AND SAMUEL PEPYS RELATING TO ENGRAVING. London: Ellis, 1915, 8vo., cloth-backed boards. 166, (2) pages.

Limited to 250 copies. Extracts from these two 17th century diaries. Illustrated. Both men were authorities and collectors of engravings. Information on the artists of their day. Spine age darkened. Ink ownership inscription at top of free endpaper. [2348]

59. Lyell, James P.R. EARLY BOOK ILLUSTRATION IN SPAIN.
London: Graft & Co., 1926, small thick 4to., two-toned polished cloth, top edge gilt, others uncut. xxvi, 331 pages.

$ 250.00

First edition, limited to 500 numbered copies. With an introduction by Dr. Konrad Haebler. 247 illustrations of books from the 16th and 15th century. Much better physical production than Hacker reprint. Covers soiled with corners showing some bumping. [42162]

   $ 150.00

   Introduction by Thomas Mann. This novel involves a meeting and fusing of two arts—the infusion of the aristocratic spirit of art into the democratic spirit of cinema. This text provides an artistically produced film of life. Masereel calls his books “romans en images”—novels in pictures. 165 black-and-white woodcuts tell the story without words. Minor chipping at head of spine. Former owner’s signature on free front endpaper. Well preserved copy. [99456]

   $ 175.00

   Printed in an edition limited to 1900 copies on Mohawk Superfine paper by David R. Godine. This is one of the 100 numbered copies bound thus and signed by Godine and McCurdy. Designed and illustrated by Michael McCurdy, and includes six of his original wood engravings printed directly from the block. Text preserves the 1704 journal of Sarah Kemble Knight which provides important insight on early American colonial life. Includes an introductory note by Malcolm Freiberg of the Massachusetts Historical Society. [96765]

$ 150.00

Limited to 250 numbered copies. Published on the 150th anniversary of Walden’s first publication. Foreword by Terry Tempest Williams. Designed by Stephen Dyer with woodcut illustrations, including frontispiece, by Michael McCurdy. [114919]

First edition with plates by Jean Michel Moreau. (Brunet v.ii 593). Demoustier wrote in the tradition of Racine and La Fontaine, and he wrote this work to give women access to science and fable. These letters to a schoolgirl on the sometimes delicate and racy myths of the Greeks were all the rage at the end of the 18th century, and his book went through many editions. This edition is illustrated with 36 plates engraved after the work of Moreau by many various artists. Ray (p. 88) singles out this work as one of the few collections of plates from Moreau’s later period that compares with the quality of his earlier work. Each section contains its own frontispiece and title page. Section one with an introduction, a note on the author, and a preface. Foxing throughout, corners and edges with wear. Text in French. [61042]
64. Ottley, William Young and Peltro William Tomkins. ENGRAVINGS OF THE MOST NOBLE. THE MARQUIS OF STAFFORD’S COLLECTION OF PICTURES IN LONDON, ARRANGED ACCORDING TO SCHOOLS AND IN CHRONOLOGICAL ORDER, WITH REMARKS ON EACH PICTURE. 4 volumes in 2. London: Bensley and Son for Longman, Hurst, Rees, Orme, and Brown; and P.W. Tomkins, 1818, folio., 19th century half leather, marbled paper-covered boards, gilt-stamped label on spine; top edge gilt, other edges uncut. Variously paginated. $ 850.00

First edition. Dedicated to the King (George III), the Prince of Wales, and the Earl of Dartmouth. The collection of George Granville Levison-Gower (1758-1833), 2nd Marquis of Stafford. The works are arranged by school—six “classes”: 1) Lower Italy, 2) Upper Italy, 3) Germany, Switzerland, Flanders and Holland, 4) Spain, 5) France, and 6) Britain—and are in chronological order. Volume I includes thirteen plates of scaled drawings of the Marquis of Stafford’s gallery in London, which show the location of each painting.

W.M. Craig drew the reductions, which were then transferred to copper plates by some of the best engravers then working in England, including Heath, Romney, Fittler, and Tomkins.

Each volume begins with descriptive text about each item, identifying it by number. Following is a list of plates with title, artist and number. Plates are identified by title, engraver, place, and time of first publication.

Binding rubbed and worn, especially at edges. Endpaper chipped at edges. Light foxing and tanning on plates does not obscure the plates themselves. [114812]
First edition. The German Renaissance painter and engraver, Georg Pencz (c. 1500-1550) was active in Nuremberg and was probably part of Dürer’s workshop. Pencz’s style was heavily influenced by his two trips to Italy, the first coming early in his career. The fine, crisp style of his paintings in particular reflect his admiration of his peer’s work south of the Alps. Pencz is remembered primarily for his small-scale copperplate engravings making him part of a group of artists dubbed the “Little Masters.” This book, however, focuses on his woodcuts.

Introductory chapters followed by a detailed listing of publications with his works. Heavily illustrated in text in addition to a section of plates at the back, which show a broad range of subject matter and scale. Works include portrait medallions, emblems, pastoral scenes, mythological and Biblical figures and scenes, arabesques, multiple sheet prints and a number of hand colored prints. Memorial bookplate on front pastedown indicates that this copy came from the H.P. Kraus reference library and stock. Cloth split along hinges. [77802]
Polonus collaborated on this series with his long-time partner, Meinardo Ungut, and Ruppel included numerous samples from their other joint projects, such as a page of text and music from Processionarium Ordinis Praedicatorum and the title-page woodcut plus a page of text from Floreto de San Francisco. Working on his own later in Alcalá, Polonus printed among other items a 4-volume edition of Vita Christi Cartuxano, and its title page woodcut with royal arms is reproduced, portraying him presenting the work to Ferdinand and Isabella (Clair, p. 218). On the verso in red and black is the colophon as it appeared with Polonus’s pressmark. Frontispiece tipped-in. 1946 colophon included. Slipcase rubbed. [64089]

Limited to only 500 numbered copies. This scarce bibliography is a must for the Pyle collector. Bottom of spine stained and abraded areas on front cover. [3254]

69. Rava, Carlo Enrico. ARTE DELL’ILLUSTRAZIONE NEL LIBRO ITALIANO DEL RINASCIMENTO. Milano: G.G. Görlich, (1945), large 4to., later cloth with original paper front wrapper laid-down on front cover. 96, (2) pages + 53 plates.

Limited edition of 500 numbered copies. A study of Italian Renaissance book illustration from the late fifteenth century through the first quarter of the sixteenth century, this volume investigates xylography in the Venetian, Lombard, Florentine, Sienese, and Roman contexts, many examples of which are reproduced in the large plates section at the end of the volume. Some of the illustrations are laid down. Memorial bookplate on front pastedown indicates that this copy came from the H.P. Kraus reference library and stock. Irregularly faded, with title page detached. Produced on poor quality, acidic paper. [77213]

London: Bradbury, Evans, & Co., (n.d.), 8vo., three-quarter leather, marbled paper boards, marbled endpapers and edges, six panels on spine with five having different gilt sporting motifs & one being the title. xii, 408 pages.

$ 100.00

An early edition, but not a first as it is dedicated to “The Right Honourable Earl Elcho” (Field 182). The author is Robert Smith Surtees, although that is not mentioned anywhere. Quite popular in its day, today it is most enjoyed for the illustrations by John Leech. There are 13 engravings on steel which are colored and 84 engravings on wood which are not colored. The boards are lightly worn and the leather a bit rubbed. The spine is worn at the head and the uppermost motif rubbed. [92996]

$ 100.00

First edition. History of mezzotint: its origins in the 17th century, rise and fall in the 18th and 19th centuries, and revival as a medium of artistic expression in the 20th century. Followed by a section on the making of mezzotints: plate making, proofing, printing, alterations, special effects, color, etc. There are over 300 illustrations (25 in color), of mezzotints, mezzotint proofs or variants, and, in the second part, details of plates. Line drawings illustrating techniques accompany the second part. The author is a mezzotint artist. Includes a list of suppliers, bibliography and index. With the bookplate and pencil signature of Gavin Bridson. [52234]

$ 150.00

First edition, limited to 370 numbered copies and signed by Dard Hunter and the designer, Elmer Adler. This landmark book on hand papermaking in these countries was printed on Japanese mulberry-bark handmade paper and contains 68 photogravure illustrations taken by Hunter on his trip. The book describes the trip and the processes of hand papermaking that Hunter discovered during his journey. The specimens show a wide variety of paper from these three countries and tie in nicely with the descriptions of hundreds of different kinds of paper that he had found, as well as the locations where they were produced. Slight wear to leather spine. Slipcase rubbed. Light foxing to some of the specimen pages. [5296]

Printed in “a bastard version” of Caslon Oldface italic and Goudy Modern roman. Wood-engraved abstraction of the initial i for the Prolegomena, vignette on the title-page, and design for the front cover by John C. Haley. Excerpts from chronicles of The Arts Club’s past season. “It is not primarily designed to explain to the world in general what we are, what we do, how well we reason, or how badly we sing. Rather it is a souvenir, intended to revive some of our very happy memories.” Finely printed. [62298]

Printed in an edition limited to 250 numbered copies signed by Gore Vidal. With a new introduction by the author especially written for this edition, on the fiftieth anniversary of its first publication. Illustrations consist of three photographs of Vidal in his World War II uniform (his first novel, Williwaw is based on his experiences aboard a freight-supply ship), and endpapers with portions of the blueprints for this class of ship. Hoyem’s notes on the ship follow Vidal’s introduction. The text is letterpress printed on German mouldmade paper. The photographs are reproduced by offset lithography and tipped onto the pages. The binding is full dark blue cloth with grayish blue-green endpapers and title label. The dust jacket is made of a heavier version of the same paper, and is trimmed in the dark blue binding cloth. The dust jacket reprints the original reviews printed on the jacket of the first edition. The fifty-first book of the Arion Press. Well preserved copy. [46314]

96. (D’Ambrosio, Joe) Gleason, Duncan. WINDJAMMERS.

$3,500.00

This is copy number seven of 25 numbered copies. A series of copper etchings made in 1922 by Duncan Gleason (1881-1959) for the etched book Windjammers. Although the publisher planned 325 copies, probably not more than 100 pulls were made from the plates. This book is made from a limited edition of 25 numbered impressions, printed posthumously in 1973 at Triad Graphics. Each etching is impressed with the blind stamp of the Gallery Easel, publisher, and is mounted to a leaf of the book.

$ 120.00

First edition. This highly-researched work is the most authoritative account of the first and most famous private press of the 20th century, the Doves Press. Starting its operation in the wake of William Morris, the Doves Press became a major influence in the development of modern book design. Marianne Tidcombe reveals the intriguing story of the cutting of the famous Doves Type, the printing of Paradise Lost, Paradise Regained, and The English Bible. Also included is the saga of Cobden-Sanderson's short and stormy partnership with Emery Walker. Recounted in detail, this blustery relationship ultimately lead to a final episode where Cobden-Sanderson throws the Doves type into the River Thames to prevent it from falling into Walker's hands after his death. A detailed, descriptive bibliography of all the books and papers printed at the Doves Press along with a list of all ephemeral items is provided. Richly illustrated with 18 color and 124 black-and-white illustrations. Marianne Tidcombe has spent over thirty years researching the Doves Press. She is also the author of Women Bookbinders 1880-1920 (Oak Knoll Press 1996). This book is out of print. [114672]

Printed in an edition of 30 copies, of which this is one of 10 deluxe copies. Inspired by winning a chili cook-off at his home in northeast Iowa, David Esslemont presents his prize-winning recipe in 39 woodcuts in this hand-crafted book. Starting from scratch, he toasts ancho chiles, makes vegetable stock, grinds beef from farmer friends, adds home-grown garlic, tomato paste and much more. The final touch is a topping of spicy sour cream garnished with julienned fresh fresno, habanero and jalapeño chiles.

Bound in white alum-tawed pigskin with a design painted in acrylic ink of a bowl of chili on a white linen table cloth, with blind and gold tooling, sewn on linen tapes with hand-sewn headbands and leather jointed paste-paper endleaves, in a felt-lined cloth-covered drop-back box. Hand-printed from the original woodblocks on Zerkall mould-made paper. [115806]

105.  (Gregynog Press) Euripides. THE PLAYS OF EURIPIDES.
2 volumes. Newtown, Montgomeryshire: Gregynog Press, 1931, small folio, cloth. (xii),269,(vii); (iv),263,(v) pages.

$ 350.00

Finely printed in an edition limited to 500 copies. (Harrop, Ransom, Zilverdistel no.18). Title pages printed in two colors. Illustrated with many wood engravings by Robert Ashwin Maynard and Horace Walter Bray adapted from paintings on Greek vases (which are listed at the end of volume II). This was by far the most expensive production of the Gregynog Press. The last work done by Maynard and Bray for the Press, Harrop considers this a “fitting swan song” for the artist/designers. Translated by Gilbert Murray. Covers rubbed. [44397]

$ 275.00

Printed in an edition limited to 360 numbered copies. Translated by Richard Aldington. Signed by the illustrator, Wilton Priestner. Profusely illustrated with slightly disturbing, almost surreal line drawings that push the satirical tone of the story itself to a new level. The modern, edgy drawings are evidence of the relevancy and adaptability of the work of the eighteenth-century French writer, Voltaire. The imagery does not exactly match up with the moment of the story it illustrates, but rather offers a highly interpretive version of the events as told by Voltaire. For example, whereas the text reads “… she observed Doctor Pangloss in the bushes, giving a lesson in experimental physics to her mother’s waiting maid, a very pretty and docile brunette,” the illustration shows a couple copulating in the garden. Paper covered boards and the slipcase also with drawings by Priestner. With shoulder notes. [79477]

$750.00

An excellent run of this periodical. Published “co-operatively by hobby printers in all parts of the world as a demonstration of their mutual interest in the art of printing for its creative satisfaction.” Includes 1955 (Number 1) to 1995 (Number 41) lacking only Number 2 from 1956. Number 2 is provided in a facsimile. Each issue contains contributions printed by various private presses. Produced by William F. Haywood 1955-1995. [115168]

$ 750.00

Limited to 100 copies, signed by all the participants. A poem by Margaret Kaufman that is a sequel to “Aunt Sallie’s Lament” and creates a friendship quilt in celebration of her seventy-fifth birthday. It has nine squares from family and friends, each with its own greeting card and Sallie’s comments. Each of the greeting cards was handwritten by a different woman and then printed. The designs were laser printed and some were hand colored. The title is stitched in with lavender crochet thread, and Sallie’s verses are printed in Trump Mediaeval. The pages create a changing quilt pattern accumulating the names of the quilters and are made of papers from Barcham Green, Richard Langdell, MacGregor-Vinzani, Fabriano, Rives, and Mohawk Superfine. Many of the papers have patterns that are made up from a variety of printers’ flowers plus linocuts for the appliqued designs. The cover is quilted with patterned cottons. The inside of the front cover of the box contains a silk flower bouquet. The boxes were made by Judi Conant and Mary Richardson. Includes the colophon in an eight page pamphlet with a cover using an embossed quilt card design by Lisa McMasters for Stone Ginger Press. [60921]

$ 225.00

Limited to 350 numbered copies of which this is one of the 260 bound thus. The development of the private press in Britain during the twentieth century is traced through this collection of prospectuses that come from both famous and not-so-famous publishers. As the books they represent become rarer and more expensive, the prospectuses, which can offer fascinating clues to the development of the titles they promote, are becoming collectible items themselves.

Frontispiece is a wood-engraving by Eric Ravilious for the cover of the Golden Cockerel Press's Autumn List 1931. Includes 16 colored plates and three facsimile prospectuses inserted in a pocket in the back board. [88961] decorated paper covered boards, slipcase. 32 pages.

One of 185 numbered trade copies. In February 2009 the north Cotswolds were covered by a brief but deep fall of snow. A fairytale landscape of changing shapes and patterns appeared overnight. Beside the predictable snowman on the village green, there was even a habitable igloo. Miriam Macgregor ventured out into this unfamiliar snowscape with sketchbook and camera to capture the scene. The resulting engravings, mostly full-page, are the ideal medium for their subject. This is the third book of Macgregor’s engravings in which all the subjects are within walking distance of her cottage.

Hand-set in 16 point Centaur and printed on Zerkall mould-made paper, with 24 wood-engravings, in an edition of 255 copies. [115190]

Johnson & Co., 1858, 8vo., contemporary half calf over patterned paper covered boards, five raised bands, leather spine label, a signed binding by Calvin S. Hartley (signature at bottom of spine), all edges gilt. viii, 7-286 pages.

Sixth edition. (Bigmore & Wyman I,3). The first edition was issued in 1837. This was the second practical printing manual issued by an American author; it was compiled from many of the facts given by Hansard and Johnson. This edition contains work on gold, bronze, card, and xylographic printing and the printing of wood engravings. Illustrated. It also contains a four page section at the end showing L. Johnson type faces and other material which isn’t in the earlier editions. Rubbed along edges with corner of leather spine label chipped off. With a note in pencil on verso of free endpaper “This book was bound complete (forwarded & finished) by C.S. Hartley in December 1859.” With a pencil note in another hand below the first commenting on this Philadelphia bindery. Rebacked with original leather laid down. Fabric tape repair of front inner hinge. [34091]

Volume 1, Number 1 and Volume 2 of the APHS’s journal. These are the only two such journals held in Australian libraries according to the online catalogue of the National Library of Australia. The society was affiliated with the Powerhouse Museum in Sydney, New South Wales. Each volume has a table of contents and articles on various aspects of the history of printing in Australia. Book reviews in first volume. First volume has color illustrations tipped in. Black and white illustrations in both volumes. Spine and edges of wrappers of first volume faded. Letter, dated July 17, 1990, from the president of the society notes that publication will cease with article submissions and assistance from the membership in production. [116070]
Printed by Baskerville for J. and R. Tonson (London), from the text of Thomas Newton, D.D., bishop of Bristol and a Milton scholar who had published an edition of Paradise Lost in 1749 (DNB XIV, 403-5). First volume includes a list of subscribers and introductory poems: “In Paradisum Amissam” (in Latin) by Samuel Barrow, M.D., and “On Paradise Lost” by Andrew Marvel. Also includes introductory comments on the verse and the argument. Second volume includes table of contents and a biography of Milton. According to F.E. Pardoe, this was Baskerville's third printing of Milton's works; two were previously published in 1758 and 1759 (Pardoe 169). See also Philip Gaskell, 24-7; 28-9. This edition was advertised in the Public Advertiser (London) on May 14, 1760. Noteworthy is the gilt-roll on the bindings and the marbled endpapers. According to Diana Patterson, the Society for the Encouragement of Arts, Manufactures and Commerce offered a premium for the manufacture of marbled paper in 1759. Although no premium was awarded until 1763, Baskerville was an entrant, and the front endpaper of this work is illustrated with Patterson's article on the subject (Patterson, “John Baskerville, Marbler,” in The Library s6-12 (3), 1990, 212-21). Previous owner’s name inscribed on endpaper of both volumes. Front joint of first volume cracked, rubbing at edges. Gilt on spines dulled. Foxing. Copy of Patterson article laid in. [110054]

191. (Fleming, Ian) Gilbert, Jon. IAN FLEMING: THE BIBLIOGRAPHY.

A comprehensive 736-page guide to the work of Ian Fleming, this bibliography is not only an indispensable source of information for collectors, enthusiasts, libraries and booksellers alike, but an entertaining and informative volume that will appeal to anyone interested in the James Bond phenomenon.

Author Jon Gilbert is a renowned bookdealer at rare book experts Adrian Harrington Limited in London and the foremost expert on Fleming's work. He explains: “Ian Fleming is best known as the creator of James Bond, an icon of 20th century popular culture, but he was also a journalist, publisher, travel writer, motor enthusiast, card player, accomplished golfer and noted bibliophile. Much has been written about Fleming and his legendary creation, but until now there has been no serious bibliographical account of his published work.”

The bibliography covers every aspect of Fleming's writing, from the manuscript stage, through typescripts, uncorrected proofs, advance and review copies, first and subsequent impressions, paperback printings, omnibus and collected editions, as well as periodical appearances, comic strip adaptations, and young reader and large print editions published in Britain and America.

Apart from the fourteen Bond novels there are sections covering Fleming’s non-fiction works, The Diamond Smugglers and Thrilling Cities, his book for children Chitty-Chitty-Bang-Bang, as well as his more obscure articles, essays and contributions. Each main entry includes an engaging narrative on the conception, editorial process and marketing of the book, complemented by a full list of sources. Biographical notes of many of Fleming's friends and colleagues are provided, along with a chronology of the author's life.

238. Wheat, Carl I. MAPPING THE TRANMISSISSIPPI WEST, 1540-1861. San Francisco: The Institute of Historical Cartography, 1959, folio, two-toned cloth. xiv,264; xiii,281; xiii,260; xix,222; (iv),223-487 pages.

First edition, limited to 1,000 sets. Wheat, the well-known California historian, undertook this work in an effort to trace the opening of the American West by studying the succession of maps which, beginning in the 1540s, accurately trace the paths of the explorers and the record of the resulting growth of knowledge.

He sought out every map, relating to the Transmississippi West before 1861 and selected the most interesting and important. These maps cover the story of Spanish, French and English exploration.

In all, 1,302 maps are fully described, with many illustrated in full-page. A chronological calendar of maps, a full index, and a system of marginal references make these volumes easier to use than any other comparable work.

This set lacks volume III which covered the period 1846-1854. [103921]

251. BIBLIA SACRA QUADRILINGUIA VETERIS TESTAMENTI HEBRAICI CUM VERSIONIBUS E REGIONE POSITIS.

Text in Latin, German, Hebrew, Greek, and Syriac. A three volume edition of the Old and New Testaments of the Bible, including the apocryphal books. A well known and generally acclaimed polyglot Bible, was edited by Christian Reineccius, a Lutheran scholar. The Old Testament is published in Hebrew, Greek (the Septuagint version), German, and Latin (the Vulgate). The Apocrypha is in Greek, Latin, and German. The New Testament (with a separate title page) is printed in Syriac, Greek (two versions), Latin, and German. The German version of all is Martin Luther's translation. The first volume includes the books of Genesis through Esther. The second volume includes the books of Job through Malachi, and the Apocrypha. The third volume is the New Testament, entire. Each volume includes commentary by Luther (in German). The third volume also includes variant readings of the Greek and Syriac translations, a harmony of the Gospels, the Jewish calendar, and annotations in the New Testament text.
Introductory comments and chapters with engraved headpieces and decorative capitals begin each chapter of the Scripture text. Each volume has a title page in red and black, with a title page, in black only, beginning the Apocrypha in the second volume. In addition, the New Testament volume has an additional title page engraved by Johann Gottfried Kriigner of Leipzig, known for his editions of J.S. Bach’s works.

The New Testament was originally published in 1713. Darlow and Moule state it was “reissued with a new title and preface in 1747,” and generally known as the Leipzig Polyglot. (Darlow II, 1451, 4245). The two volumes containing the Old Testament and Apocrypha followed in 1750 and 1750, respectively. Dibdin calls the work “excellent and commodious.”

Boards are scuffed and rubbed at edges. Soiling on endpapers. Some light foxing on title pages and in text. Some leaves of text bent at edges. [115839]

284. Richardson, R. A POETICAL ESSAY ON THE DOLPHIN SAILING ROUND THE WORLD IN THE YEARS 1766, 1767, 1768.

Text in English and French. Limited to 125 numbered copies. Introduction by Phyllis Mander Jones. French translation and notice to readers by Denise Jean Simon. Author was the barber on board and wrote an account of a voyage that reflected European interest in exploring the Southern Hemisphere in the mid- to late 18th century. Printed from the original manuscript held by the Mitchell Library, Sydney, Australia. Original sepia-toned woodcut illustration signed by artist Rene Dessirier. Boards and slipcase very lightly worn. [115084]

Bartolomeo Sanvito (1435-1511) was one of the most active and famous scribes of fifteenth century Italy, and the supreme exponent of the italic script. He worked first for a notary in Padua, but was soon employed to copy manuscripts by the young Bernardo Bembo, who remained a lifelong friend; the scholarly Francesco Buzzacarin; Cardinal Ludovico Trevisan, patriarch of Aquileia; and the Venetian patrician Marcanonio Morosini. After moving to Rome in 1466, he was appointed a member of Cardinal Francesco Gonzaga’s household, and after the cardinal’s death to that of the Pope’s nephew Cardinal Raffaello Riario. Pope Sixtus IV was one of his principal clients. He was also an illuminator, and on occasion collaborated with famous artists. Towards the end of the century he moved back to Padua, to become a canon of the Collegiate Church of Sta Giustina at Monselice and to collaborate with Fra Giovanni Giocondo on collecting examples for his Sylloge of ancient inscriptions. His last great enterprise was to copy and illustrate two large service-books as gifts to the Church of Sta Giustina.

This book details Santivo’s work with illumination, bindings, and his experimentations in book design. Based on the notes of the late paleographer A. C. de la Mare (1932-2001), who had been collecting material on Santivo for many years. Includes contributions by Scott Dickerson, Ellen Cooper Erdreich and Anthony Hobson, as well as an annotated catalogue of Santivo’s manuscripts by Nuvoloni. [115992]

This academic journal which addresses all aspects of medieval history and culture is published quarterly by the Medieval Academy of America. Volumes 15-55 (1940-1980) are cloth bound and show minor shelf wear. Some of these covers have faded from light exposure. The rest of the series consists of individual quarterly issues bound in the original stiff paper wrappers. The set is incomplete but includes 20 issues for the period 1926-1939. These have darkened covers and some damage at the edges. In two cases, the spines are damaged: Vol. 1, no. 1 (January 1926) and Vol. 6, no. 1 (January 1931). The cover of the first issue is detached but present. The covers of volumes 56 no. 1 to 62 no. 2 (January 1981-April 1987) have some soiling—mostly minor, except for the last four issues in which the pages are warped and water-stained. This collection of the journal came from the reference library of H. P. Kraus. [86899]

Now available for the first time since its compilation. The archive of Kerouac and Beat material collected and brought together by Robert Milewski, the author of the important standard reference book Jack Kerouac: An Annotated Bibliography of Secondary Sources, 1944-1979 (Scarecrow Press, 1981). Of the 1037 entries in the bibliography, 807 (78%) are included in this archive. This includes 178 items in hard copy (books, magazines, newspapers, newsletters, etc.), 8 long-playing recordings, and 621 photocopies (reviews, articles, chapters, notices, etc.).

The archive contains additional material not included in the bibliography as well as items collected since 1979, its end date. These are books and articles by Kerouac (including some first editions and a signed Maggie Cassidy-204 items plus numerous photocopies); film stills, a poster, and other production material from the film “Heartbeat” (23 pieces); LP recordings of Kerouac and other Beat writers and jazz and film scores, plus cassettes, VHS tapes, CDs, and microfilm (34 items); bookseller catalogs (circa late 1970-2000s listing Kerouac and Beats items-147 pieces); books and articles by and about other Beat writers (e.g. Ginsberg, Burroughs, Corso, Ferlinghetti-less than 100 items); various Kerouac and Beat ephemera (e.g. newspaper advertisements, auction catalogs, broadsides, postcards), including items from Edie Parker Kerouac and John Montgomery (approximately 80 pieces); runs of Kerouac and Beat zines, including Moody Street Irregulars, Comstock Lode, Ludd’s Mill, and Palantir.
In total this archive of research material about Jack Kerouac contains approximately 750 hardbacks, paperbacks, newspapers, magazines, and catalogs; more than 125 items in other formats and media, both paper and audio-visual; and more than 1200 photocopies.

More detail is found in a spreadsheet (computer file) that is available via email upon request. Condition of items varies. Archive available only in its entirety. [115710]

303. Newton, Isaac. PHILOSOPHÆ NATURALIS PRINCIPIA MATHEMATICA. Amsterdam: Sociatatus, 1723, 4to., full calf reproduction of an oxford binding, gilt on spine. (xviii), 484, (8), (xii), 107+(1) pages. $12,500.00

The Principia is the foundation work on dynamics and gravitation and the first successful scientific model of the mechanisms of the universe. Copernicus, Galileo and Kepler had certainly shown the way; but where they described the phenomena they observed, Newton explained the underlying universal laws (ibid), these being the laws of gravitation and planetary motion, which established a concept of the universe unchallenged until Einstein. In a very sympathetic reproduction of an 18th century Oxford binding by Sean Richards of Byzantium Studios in Norman, Oklahoma. [115896]
Ethel Reed (1874–1912) is one of the most elusive figures in the history of American graphic design. Born in Newburyport, Massachusetts, she moved in the 1890s to Boston, where, while still in her early twenties, she achieved international recognition for her posters—and for her personal glamour. “The beautiful poster lady” is how newspapers of the day described her, and they often went on to claim that she was the most famous woman artist in America. Ethel Reed was an extraordinarily vivid personality of the fin de siècle and a striking early example of a media celebrity.

But in 1896, following a broken engagement, she sailed to Europe, contributed to the two final issues of the Yellow Book in London, and then, after the turn of the century, vanished in the fog (to use her own phrase). Now William S. Peterson, through meticulous archival research, has at last been able to reconstruct the story of her life in England. Though unsuccessful in renewing her artistic career, she found lovers there, bore two children, and eventually married Arthur Warwick, an English army officer. Yet the marriage fell apart immediately, and her final years were darkened by poverty, drug addiction, and alcoholism.

This is the only book-length treatment of her work as a designer—and the first successful attempt to recover Ethel Reed’s enigmatic, hidden life. It includes 16 color plates of her posters and 47 black-and-white illustrations.

Charles Magnus (1826–1900) was one of the most prolific American printers of ephemera during the late nineteenth century. A native of Germany, he immigrated to New York City around 1850, where he enjoyed a long, creative career printing ephemera such as songsheets, illustrated stationery, bird’s eye views, maps, board games, puzzles, greeting cards, and rewards of merit. He also published several books and supplied illustrations for others. Given the range of his printing and publishing efforts, it is likely that many households of the time would have had something with his name on it.

Due to the ephemeral nature of Magnus’s imprints, the lifespan of most of his work was short, making them rare survivors in today’s collecting institutions. Yet, as examples of the pervasive vernacular visual culture of the nineteenth century, they are important to both scholars and collectors. Documenting nearly a half century of the American experience, they inform us about the games children played, ballads that adults read and sang, the sites of Civil War battles, advertising strategies, and sentiments expressed through valentines.

Throughout the book are over 100 color illustrations of Magnus’s work and portraits of him and his family. An appendix lists the items mentioned by title in the book and records where at least one copy of each can be located. A comprehensive index completes the volume.
All items listed in this catalogue have been carefully described and are in fine condition unless otherwise noted. Any purchase may be returned within two weeks. Please notify us before returning. Oak Knoll Books specializes in the sale of books about books, a large field encompassing books on bibliography, printing, binding, illustration, papermaking, bookplates, type specimens, calligraphy, bookselling, publishing, book design, book-collecting, and examples of fine printing. In addition to antiquarian and out-of-print books on these topics, we also stock a variety of imprint titles. Oak Knoll Press publishes books about books and we welcome manuscripts of publication proposals in this field.

We take pride in helping to build book collections and reference libraries and give prompt attention to want lists. As we have a computerized database, we have the ability to search our inventory for specific authors or subjects very rapidly and can form custom catalogues based on your interests. We are always interested in purchasing single volumes or collections, because without these purchases, we would be nothing more than an empty building with empty bookcases.

We are located in a charming colonial two with a number of bed and breakfast establishments and hotels nearby. Our shop is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Monday through Friday, and weekends by appointment. New Castle is about 2 hours north of Washington, D.C., 1 hour south of Philadelphia, and 2 ½ hours south of New York City. We are within 15 minutes of the major railway station in Wilmington, Delaware. We hope you will find something of interest in this catalogue and look forward to hearing from you.

Oak Knoll Books is a member of the Antiquarian Booksellers Association of America (ABAA), which is an affiliated member of the International League of Antiquarian Booksellers (ILAB).
