HISTORY HAS A FACE
FIGURES OF 1821 IN OTHONIAN GREECE BY THE BELGIAN DIPLOMAT BENJAMIN MARY edited by Charikleia G. Dimacopoulou and translated by Geoffrey Cox

Athens: AdVenture SA and the Sylvia Ioannou Foundation and the Historical and Ethnological Society of Greece, 2021; hardcover, 384 pages. $130

A special edition for the 200 years after the Greek War of Independence

The publication History Has a Face - Figures of 1821 in Othonian
Greece by the Belgian Diplomat Benjamin Mary presents 125 unpublished drawings of 320 exceptional individuals from the album of the Belgian diplomat and artist Benjamin Mary (1792-1846). This volume constitutes a landmark in the portrayal of fighters, politicians, clergymen and ordinary people, bringing to light previously unknown images that enrich Greek history.

The reader is transported to the Greece of King Otto, about 20 years after the beginning of the Greek War of Independence. There we meet the figures of the time and become spectators of the work undertaken by the National Assembly of 1843-1844, when modern Greece acquired its new constitution after the Revolution of the 3rd of September 1843.

Co-published by the Sylvia Ioannou Foundation and the Historical and Ethnological Society of Greece

Research - Texts: Charikleia G. Dimacopoulou, Dimitra Koukiou, Leonora
Navari, Yorgos Tzedopoulos, Iphigenia Vogiatzi, Maria Yiouroukou.

FROM THE SNOWS TO THE SEAS
by Joseph G Lubbock

London: Bertram Rota, 1986; gilt-stamped blue silk after a design by the artist, blue morocco spine, mylar jacket, publisher’s slipcase; 14 x 10.5 inches. $7,500

One of 95 copies only on R.W.S. hand-made paper. Each copy signed by the artist/author. Bound by Coleen Curry. Illustrated with four triple fold-out copperplates worked by etching and aquatint. The colors are printed in intaglio and relief, and additional color is applied to some pages by hand. The typography and printing of the text is by Will Carter at the Rampant Lions Press. The images and thoughts in this book spring from mountains spanning great segments of our sphere to wilds where trusting creatures create an idyll of Eden. Inspired by the Himalayas, the Galapagos Islands and Antarctica, the book captures the grandeur of the planet. With Prints by J.G. Lubbock. Lubbock’s previous seven books are out-of-print -- as this soon will be. [Book # 136692]

THE STORY OF LITTLE GOOSE
by Tara O'Brien

Philadelphia, PA: Ink Fish Press, 2004; oblong 8vo., gray cloth, debossed goose on the front panel; unpaginated. $150

First edition of 100 numbered copies signed by O'Brien. Humorous story of a renter's woes: "The Story of Little Goose was inspired by my first landlord experience when moving to Philadelphia from Los Angeles. I had a rough time finding a place to live, and then the apartment I did rent leaked when it rained. The leaking could be defined more accurately as: water falls down walls, saturated carpets, mold released every time the carpets were re-saturated. I kept asking for the problem to be fixed, but of course nothing happened. After two months I'd had enough and many pieces which made it possible for me to move, fell into place. The actual book originated as an assignment. We pulled two images and two pieces of text from an envelope and were instructed to create a book. I pulled the goose, a postcard with an image of Philadelphia buildings on it, my own writing on rage (directed at my landlord) and a piece on traveling. The Story of Little Goose is the final result."

Offset printed, with an inventive structure based on a design by Heidi Kyle. A fine copy. [Book # 133695]

Isaiah Thomas

AN EULOGY ON THE HONOURABLE THOMAS RUSSELL, ESQ
by John Warren

Boston, MA: Printed By Benjamin Sweetser, 1796; 8vo., loose signatures; 31, (1), 3, (3) pages. $1,000

Half-title. “Late President of the Society for Propagating the Gospel among the Indians and Others, in North America; the Humane Society of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts; the Agricultural Society; the Society for the Advice of Immigrants; the Boston Chamber of Commerce; and the National Bank in Boston. Who Died at Boston, April 8, 1796. Delivered, May 4, 1796, before the several societies to which he belonged.” He was a shipowner/trader who several times lost his fortune and rebuilt it. He was noteworthy as being the first private individual of the United States to send a trading ship to Russia. He did quite a bit of trade with the West Indies.

Also bound with “A Monody on the Death of The Honourable Thomas Russell, Esq. Sung after the Eulogy of Doctor John Warren....” Ref.: Evans, 31522; Sabin, 101470

This copy is additionally signed by Isaiah Thomas (1749-1831), colonial printer (the foremost of his day), publisher, helped Paul Revere warn of the British approach to Boston and served as a Minuteman. He was also the founder of the American Antiquarian Society and was Worcester (Massachusetts) first postmaster.

John Warren was the leading surgeon of Boston and closely involved in the establishment of Harvard Medical School. According to tradition he took an active part in the Boston Tea Party. His brother was Joseph Warren, physician, president pro-temp of the Provincial Congress and well known patriot who died at the battle of Breed’s Hill. [Book # 135360]
THE LEADER OF THE PEOPLE

John Steinbeck

ON SATURDAY AFTERNOON Billy Buck, the ranch-hand, raked together the last of the old year’s haystack and pitched small forkfuls over the wire fence to a few mildly interested cattle. High in the air small clouds like puffs of cannon smoke were driven eastward by the March wind. The wind could be heard whistling in the brush on the ridge crests, but no breath of it penetrated down into the ranch-up.

The little boy, Jody, emerged from the house eating a thick piece of batter bread. He saw Billy working on the last of the haystack. Jody tramped down scuffing his shoes in a way he had been told was destructive to good shoe-leather. A flock of white pigeons flew out of the black cypress tree as Jody passed, and circled the tree and landed again. A half-grown tortoise-shell cat leaped from the brush-house, paused on still legs near the road, whirled and galloped back again, then picked up a rabbit to help the game along, but it was too fast, for the cat was under the porch before the stone could be discharged. He threw the stone into the cypress tree and started the pigeons on another whistling flight.

Arriving at the stack-up haystack, the boy leaned against the barbed-wire fence. “Will that be all of it, do you think?” he asked.

The middle-aged ranch-hand stopped his careful raking and sunk his fork into the ground. He took off his black hat and smoothed down his hair. “Nothing left of it that isn’t soggy from ground moisture,” he said. He replaced his hat and rubbed his dry leather gloves together.

“Ought to be plenty mice,” Jody suggested.

“Lousy with them,” said Billy. “For crawling with mice.”

THE BOOKBINDINGS OF T.J. COBDEN-SANDERSON
A STUDY OF HIS WORK, 1884-1893, BASED ON HIS TIME BOOK
by Marianne Tidcombe

London: The British Library, 1984; 4to., cloth, slipcase; xii, 407 pages. $125

First edition limited to 1,000 unnumbered copies. With a foreword by John Dreyfus. Bookplate of Stuart B. Schimmel on front pastedown. Spine faded, else fine in near fine slipcase. An excellent analytical study of this founder of modern bookbinding. This work is based on Cobden-Sanderson’s Time Book, in which he recorded the volumes he bound between 1884 and 1893. However, it has been greatly expanded and updated to include full bibliographical descriptions of all known bindings. There is also a biographical introduction and interesting chapters on the features of Cobden-Sanderson’s bindings and his notes on bookbinding. The appendices contain drawings, designs, a list of Cobden-Sanderson’s tools, and major exhibitions of his bindings. A very important and magnificently produced book, illustrated with 200 black-and-white photographs and a colored frontispiece. [Book # 1310]
T-CROSSED. #3
by Laura Wait

Denver, CO: Laura Wait, 2007; 8vo., leather spine over handpainted paper boards, gilt on spine, cloth clamshell box with paper spine label; 20 paper leaves, 8 pages of mylar. $2,500

Etchings, letterpress, handwriting and painting. Manuscript handwritten on the half title and repeated throughout the book. The pages and the Mylar sheets were first printed with wooden type on an etching press, and the paper versos were printed with etchings. Paste-painting completed on both sides of all paper in many layers. Handwriting on many pages. Sewn onto a concertina with linen thread. Spine of brown Harmatan leather with a gold “T” handtooled at the top. Boards are aircraft plywood covered in etchings printed on Japanese paper. Multiple layers of acrylic paint and varnish were applied to the covers. Brown endpapers of Walnut dyed Cave paper. Black cloth drop-back box lined with brown painted paper; paper title label on spine.

From the artist’s website: “Technical: The manuscript is handwritten on the half title and repeated throughout the book. The pages and the Mylar sheets were first printed letterpress with wooden type on an etching press, and the paper versos were printed with etchings. Paste-painting was completed on both sides of all paper in many layers. The calligraphy finished the book pages.

The pages are sewn onto a concertina with linen thread. The spine is Harmatan leather with a gold ‘T’ hand-tooled on the spine. The boards are aircraft plywood covered in etchings printed on Japanese paper. Multiple layers of acrylic paint and varnish were applied to the covers. The endpapers are Walnut dyed Cave paper. The box was made by the artist and Jill Bergman, who also assisted with the printing.”

Crossed-T text: “Crucifixion of murderers, fiery cross of hate, witches pyre, tool of suppression / Sign of the world, death penalty, tree of life, oak crucifix / Blood of Christ, axis mundi, Greek Theos / Tau, a mark, a plus sign, old testament cross, / X and T the same in Semitic language, Greeks crossed T since they had X / Thor’s hammer, worldwide symbol of flags.”

[Book # 136231]
ULYSSES by James Joyce

New York: The Limited Editions Club, 1935; 4to., brown cloth with an abstract design including Matisse’s Nausicaa stamped in gold on the front cover, spine stamped in gold with a miniature repeat of the cover design, original slipcase, later half-leather over cloth boards clamshell box; (xviii), 365 pages. $3,750

A fine collaboration between two of the great literary and artistic figures of the twentieth century and a masterpiece of 20th-century book design and illustration. In the opinion of art publisher Monroe Wheeler, “it was a great idea to bring [Joyce and Matisse] together” since they were “celebrities of the same generation, of similar virtuosity.” Newman says that this work and the Limited Editions Club “Lysistrata” “stand as landmarks in the history of the illustrated book,” and that “Ulysses” is almost certainly the most famous work among LEC publications designed by George Macy. Curiously, Matisse based his drawings on Homer’s Odyssey, leading to speculation he never read the book he was supposed to illustrate. Reportedly, Joyce was so incensed that he stopped signing the edition, making the copies signed by both exceedingly rare. However, it’s likely that the story is apocryphal, as the contract Joyce signed was to sign 250 copies, all that his poor eyesight would allow him to manage. [Book # 121061]

HELEDD

This is the story of the misfortunes of Princess Heledd. The court of Cyn-dyylan, Prince of Powys, was in Pengwern, it stood on the banks of the River Tren whose waters were a boundary between Powys and the land of the fighting along the river and all the land north and south. He and his brothers were able to lay aside their shields and to arm themselves in their evening carousals in mead from golden drinking-horns.

At the court of Pengwern also Heledd and Ffawen the Fair and Haearn the Fair of Powys were well-grown and graceful; dressed in white or brocaded crimson they wore red-gold collars and breast-plates of yellow hair. In their speech was the beauty and towards strangers they were graceful, the princes and chieftains who sought the sisters, but they were content to be candid court of Cyn-dyylan, where the hearth fires and hospitality for all the sisters, but they were content to be content in the paradise of Powys; it contained meadows of flowers and white hedges.

But delightful as was their life the plague spread through the land and Fair Haearn was the grief of Heledd, as though an enchantment of mad her and making her at times wild, and then finding herself bewildered and mounted in her own chamber, while she drank the red-black wine fine embroidered scarf or cared to

Tightrope

The moment of lifting of standing on one foot as the other is in motion past it, that is now.

The moving foot finds the rope again, settles.
The rope gives a little, swaying, responding to the careful, placed weight, as the body re-aligns itself and gathers its intention to bring what's now the back foot forward.

Oh balance, balance!

The oxygen tank exhales, sighing like a person who has cried herself to sleep.
Then silence, then the sigh, through the night.

The recliner is his world now. I lie on the couch the next room over so that I will hear him when he calls—Detroit—out of the night.

I go to him. We hold each other as we can.

The past, I used to call it,
when it went from me into the streaming air.

THE TYPOGRAPHIC DESK REFERENCE
by Theodore Rosendorf

Oak Knoll Press: New Castle, Delaware, 2016; 5.5 x 8.5 inches, hardcover; 368 pages. ISBN 9781584563129. $45

The Typographic Desk Reference (aka TDR) is an encyclopedic reference guide of typographic terms and classification with definitions of form and usage for Latin based writing systems. The second edition, in the works since 2010, has more than doubled in size to include:

- new historical information on letterpress printing, the business of composition, and typographic technologies of the past
- current technologies such as OpenType and web fonts
- expanded entries on paper and book sizes, including contemporary and historical standards for sheets and fold counts
- a much improved scheme for classifying the specimens, which have grown to include more than 80 typefaces
- improved topical placement: for instance, typographical rules exist as form but also physical objects when associated with handset type.

The four main sections are: Terms -- definitions of format, measurements, practice, standards, tools, and lingo; Glyphs -- the list of standard ISO and extended Latin characters, symbols, diacritics, marks, and various forms of typographic furniture; Anatomy & Form - letter stroke parts and the variations of impression and space; and Classification & Specimens -- a historical line with examples of form from blackletter to contemporary sans serif types. Designed for quick consultation, entries are concise and factual, making it handy for the desk.

Theodore Rosendorf’s career has taken him to clients in the US and abroad for some of the world’s most well-known brands. He lives and works in Decatur, GA. [Book # 108705]

ENDBANDS FROM EAST TO WEST
HOW TO WORK THEM
by Jane Greenfield and Jenny Hille

New Castle, Delaware: Oak Knoll Press, 2017; 6 x 9 inches, paperback; [iv], 100 pages. ISBN 9781584563662. $18

Most manuals on bookbinding tend to provide an outline of the basic bookbinding techniques, but do little to provide detailed information on specific aspects of the craft. A topic often overlooked is how to create endbands (also called “headbands”), those structural and decorative bands made of plain linen or hemp, silk or cotton thread, that one can see at the head and tail of the spine of a book.

This manual, written by two experienced book conservators, is an easy to use, step-by-step guide showing how to create fourteen different types of historical endbands. Separate chapters are devoted to each, with all the necessary materials listed at the beginning. Among the examples are Coptic, Ethiopian, Islamic, Greek, Armenian, French, Monastic, Renaissance, Italian, German, and modern styles.

Each step is clearly illustrated and all the instructions have been tried out on students of the craft and perfected at the bench, so that the easiest and simplest method is presented. Written for both beginners and experienced binders, Endbands has established itself as one of the classic manuals for book conservators and hand bookbinders.

This third edition of the now-classic manual originally titled “Headbands: How to Work Them” has been revised and updated by Jenny Hille. Revisions include:
- New forward by Georgios Boudalis, an expert in Eastern Mediterranean bookbinding structures and especially in endbands.
- Minor corrections and clarifications throughout, based on new scholarship, users’ suggestions, and consultation with experts.
- Endbands grouped regionally (Eastern Mediterranean and Western Europe), because the techniques are entirely different.
- The technique for the Armenian endband has been completely revised, with new line drawings for the instructions.
- The bibliography has been updated.

ABC FOR BOOK COLLECTORS
9TH EDITION
by John Carter, Nicolas Barker & Simran Thadani

New Castle, Delaware: Oak Knoll Press, 2016; 5 x 8 inches, cloth, dust jacket; 264 pages. ISBN 9781584563525. $29.95

Ninth edition, completely revised and re-set, with additional information and illustrated with line drawings and color photographs.

Shaken, Unsophisticated, Harleian Style, Fingerprint, E-book, Dentelle. Can you define these terms? If not, this is the book for you! John Carter’s ABC for Book Collectors has long been established as the most enjoyable as well as the most informative reference book on the subject. Here, in over 700 alphabetical entries, ranging in length from a single line to several pages, may be found definition and analysis of the technical terms of book collecting and bibliography, interspersed with salutary comment on such subjects as auctions, condition, facsimiles and fakes, “points”, rarity, etc.

This ninth edition has been thoroughly revised and re-edited by Nicolas Barker, former Editor of The Book Collector, and Simran Thadani, Executive Director of Letterform Archive. With a new Introduction, it incorporates new terms, additions and amendments and, for the first time, illustrations in black & white and color. Nicolas Barker worked with his friend John Carter revising the ABC up to the latter’s death in 1975 and has faithfully preserved the spirit of the original. ABC for Book Collectors, while keeping us up-to-date with modern terminology, retains its humorous character and importance as the one indispensable guide to book collecting.

Praise for ABC...

“Not to be missed, both because it is a beautiful material object but also because it holds important new information. The ninth edition of ABC for Book Collectors is greatly enhanced by the inclusion of images: some beautiful full-color photographs, others clearly labeled black-and-white reference drawings. I know I will be turning to this reference work for years to come.”

THE TREVELYON MISCELLANY OF 1608
A FACSIMILE OF FOLGER SHAKESPEARE LIBRARY MS V.B.232
edited by Heather Wolfe

Washington, DC: Folger Shakespeare Library, 2007; 10.75 x 17 inches, hardcover, dust jacket; 594 pages. $295

The Trevelyon Miscellany of 1608 is one of the Folger Shakespeare Library’s greatest treasures. Aside from Shakespeare’s First Folio, it is the only book in the Folger collection to have an entire exhibition devoted to it, in 2004. Its 594 oversized pages depict life in Shakespeare’s England in all of its brilliant complexities—from the mythical to the mundane, poetical to practical, religious to secular.

Thomas Trevelyon, the compiler, was a skilled scribe and pattern-maker who had access to a stunning variety of English and Continental woodcuts, engravings, broadsides, almanacs, chronicles, and emblem books, which he transformed from small monochrome images into large and colorful feasts for the eyes. Ostensibly created for the entertainment, education, and edification of his friends and family, Trevelyon’s miscellany is a lifetime achievement that continues to delight and mystify modern audiences, with its familiar scenes of domesticity and husbandry intertwined with epic Protestant and political epitomes: accounts of the rulers of England and the Gunpowder Plot, descriptions of local fairs, the colleges of Oxford and Cambridge and astronomy according to Ptolemy, illustrations of the nine muses and the seven deadly sins, of Old Testament history and household proverbs, and whimsical flowers, alphabets, and embroidery patterns.

This massive volume, full of beautiful illustrations, provides an exciting and unparalleled snapshot of the passions, concerns, and everyday interests of a highly talented London commoner and for this reason is of significant scholarly and general interest. It is a monumental work that was intended to be both studied and enjoyed, its pages turned and savored. For the first time since its arrival at the Folger in 1945, a generous gift from Lessing Rosenwald, this is possible thanks to state-of-the-art conservation and high resolution digitization by Luna Imaging. It was published in celebration of the 75th anniversary of the Folger Shakespeare Library.

Home to the world’s largest Shakespeare collection and a primary repository for research material from the early modern period (1500-1750), the Folger Shakespeare Library is an internationally recognized research library offering advanced scholarly programs in the humanities; a national leader in how Shakespeare is taught in grades K-12; and an award-winning producer of cultural and arts programs—theater, music, poetry, exhibits, lectures, and family programs.

Reading & Writing Accessories

By
Ian Spellerberg

First U.S. edition and the first appearance of the index. Never before has there been a detailed account of what was probably the most common item to be found in Victorian libraries and on Victorian writing desks. They were paperknives (paper cutters) and were used to slit open the uncut pages of books, newspapers and magazines. Paper folders are still used today but what is the difference between a paperknife and a paper folder? Letter openers and paper-knives have a different histories and different functions. The term page turner is embedded in the vocabulary of the world of antiques and collectables. It has come as a huge surprise that page turners are a myth. This lavishly illustrated book is both informative and entertaining. It is brimming with new information about reading and writing accessories.

Ian Spellerberg is an established author and editor. He has written many articles on Victoriana for magazines and journals around the world. He is a member of several antique and collectable clubs and societies. On occasions he will be seen in his top hat and frock coat – such is his passion for knowing how it feels to live in the Victorian era. His collections of curious collectables and interactive displays are a firm favourite at antique fairs. With a professional science background, it is not surprising that Ian takes nothing for granted. He rigorously seeks out primary evidence as part of his research into the history and design of antiques and collectables. [Book # 127224]

Praise for Reading and Writing Accessories...

“As its subtitle notes, this is indeed a study, implying thoughtful, balanced and well considered [writing] rather than a mere price guide or pictorial history… You’d never think such a narrow subject (!) could be so deeply explored, but Spellerberg does so in a lively yet scholarly fashion.”
- William Butts, Manuscripts

“Well-researched and eloquently presented… Readers are provided with a dazzling array of visual material that enhances their reading, including photographs and reproductions of century-old advertisements and patents.”

GRANJON’S FLOWERS
AN ENQUIRY INTO GRANJON’S, GIOLITO’S, AND DE TOURNE’S ORNAMENTS, 1542-1586
by Hendrik D.L. Vervliet

New Castle, Delaware: Oak Knoll Press, 2016; 7.25 x 9.75 inches, hardcover, dust jacket; 248 pages. $65

Robert Granjon (1513-1590) was a younger contemporary of Claude Garamont (c.1510-1561) and with him one of the great names in the history of type-design. His typefaces have been studied in some depth, but except for a dozen combinable type-ornaments surveyed by the author previously, his printers’ flowers, however elegant and innovative, have attracted only cursory attention in such broader works as Morison’s on the ‘Fell’ types (1967).

This book, by typographic scholar Hendrik Vervliet, examines which ‘printer’s flowers’ -- alternative terms are fleurons or type-ornaments -- may be attributed to Granjon. Building on earlier researches into sixteenth-century vine leaves and Granjon’s combinable ornaments (2012; 2015), the author describes one hundred and three ornaments with first appearances during Granjon’s active life, either in his own publications and at presses of his associates and regular customers -- such as Fæzandat in Paris, de Tournes in Lyons, Silvius in Antwerp, and Basa in Rome -- or in potential sources, such as Giolito’s publications in Venice.

At the end of the author’s research, however, it became clear that only about half of them could be attributed to Granjon on more or less sure grounds. The other half seems attributable to ornamentists, as yet nameless, working for de Tournes in Lyons or Giolito in Venice. The chapter on Giolito’s ornaments aims to clear up the problem of whether Gabriele Giolito was Granjon’s first customer, or rather, as is surmised here, a source for some or all of his designs. The main user of Granjon’s founts in Lyons was Jean de Tournes. Previous studies of de Tournes either evaded the problem or were sketchy and unillustrated.

Arguments used for attributing flowers to Granjon were: archival references; materials (cast or woodcut); occurrences of punches, matrices, or type; occurrences in publications; instances of non-proprietary use; Granjon’s known whereabouts at a first appearance; stylistic criteria. The contents include a chronology of Granjon’s ornaments (1544-1586), ornaments used by Gabriele Giolito in Venice (1542-1550), and flowers and ornaments used by de Tournes in Lyons (1544-1577). Appendices include illustrated lists of ornaments by size, width, and date. An entry typically consists of: name of the flower; facsimile at actual size; motif; height and width; punchcutter; first occurrence; type-specimens and artifacts that have been preserved; recent literature and notes. References and an index follow.

Hendrik D.L. Vervliet was Librarian at the University of Antwerp and a professor at the University of Amsterdam. In 2011, the American Printing Historical Association presented him with its annual award for distinguished contribution to the study of printing history. [Book # 127576]
PHOTOGRAPHY AND THE 1851 GREAT EXHIBITION
by Anthony Hamber

New Castle, Delaware and London: Oak Knoll Press and V&A Publishing, 2018; 8.75 x 12 inches, cloth, dust jacket; xx, 396 pages, with folding floor plan of the Crystal Palace in pocket at rear. $95

The Great Exhibition of the Works of Industry of All Nations, held in London from May to October of 1851, was the genesis of the Victoria and Albert Museum. Published to accompany the opening of the V&A Photography Centre, this book makes extensive use of the V&A collections and archival material related to the 1851 Great Exhibition.

This is the first comprehensive study of the seminal gathering of photographs and photographic equipment that marked the global launch of the form. It examines the role and impact of photography at the 1851 Great Exhibition and beyond, drawing together two decades of research to create a broader understanding of the step-change in image making and distribution represented by that event. With a Foreword by Tristram Hunt and an essay on photoscience by Nicholas Burnett.

While the Great Exhibition has received a variety of examinations, its role in exhibiting and furthering the cause and exploitation of photography and its impact on illustration, printing, publishing, and the arts has been largely underappreciated. More broadly, 1851 saw a massive change in information management: in the creation and dissemination of visually based graphic information characterized by images of the building, its contents and their display that collectively constituted the Great Exhibition. Photography played a critical role in this quantum leap.

The scale and scope of photography of the Great Exhibition is made evident through reproductions of images produced by a wide range of amateur and professional photographers who documented the Great Exhibition, some of which are the only known images of now lost works of art. Also shown and examined are prints produced by traditional reprographics and lithographs and the photographic originals from which they were derived.

The result of more than twenty years of research, this study is based on a number of contemporary sources including official publications, the archive of the Royal Commission for the Exhibition of 1851, the correspondence of William Henry Fox Talbot, letters, newspapers, books, and articles in serial and periodical publications, as well as the Reports by the Juries, from which all 154 photographic images are reproduced in these pages.

Available in the UK and Ireland from the Victoria and Albert Museum. [Book # 129325]

Praise for Photography and the 1851 Great Exhibition...

“Any student of early photography - or of the international exposition housed in the famous Crystal Palace in London - will covet this magisterial work of careful scholarship and beautiful bookmaking.”

CAROL TWOMBLY
HER BRIEF BUT BRILLIANT CAREER IN TYPE DESIGN
by Nancy Stock-Allen

New Castle, DE: Oak Knoll Press, 2016; 6.625 x 9.875 inches, hardcover, dust jacket; 176 pages. $49.95

This study is a fascinating inside look at digital type design, the rather mysterious career of one of its most important practitioners, and the history and culture of Adobe Type, with additional insight into other type designers of the digital era. It is difficult to imagine a graphic designer who is not familiar with at least some of Carol Twombly’s typefaces. Yet many of those who use her fonts today would be hard pressed to name their designer.

Twombly studied at the Rhode Island School of Design under professor Charles Bigelow, and she also studied at the Bigelow & Holmes studio. She joined Adobe Systems in 1988, when the company was hiring young designers for the newly launched type department. During her ten years at Adobe, she designed some of the most recognizable and popular typefaces on the market today, including Trajan (1989), Charlemagne (1989), Lithos (1989), Adobe Caslon (1990), Myriad (1991, with Robert Slimbach), Viva (1993), and Chaparral (1997).

In 1994, Twombly won the Prix Charles Peignot, given by the Association Typographique Internationale (ATypI), the first woman - and second American - to receive the award. Having achieved international recognition, Twombly was uncomfortable being in the public eye. She also grew dissatisfied with changes at Adobe and with her evolving role at the company. In 1999 she left both Adobe and her career to pursue other artistic interests.

Nancy Stock-Allen is a graphic designer and a blogger on subjects related to design, type, and women in design history. She was formerly Professor of Graphic Design and department chair at the Moore College of Art and Design. She interviewed and corresponded extensively with Carol Twombly and many of her associates and colleagues in writing this profile of a woman who rose to the top of a field historically dominated by men, at a time of barrier-breaking and technological revolution. Illustrated throughout with halftones, examples of Twombly’s design process, and type specimens, this book will be of great interest to anyone involved or interested in type design, typography, and computer-aided graphic design. Praise for Carol Twombly...

“The detailed research and design process behind all these fonts (as well as the evolving technology) is conveyed through the many half-tone illustrations in Nancy Stock-Allen’s excellent study.”
- Nancy Campbell, TLS

“The book provides broad and deep context for Twombly’s work within the insular typographic community that developed largely around the early Adobe typographic experiments.... Twombly deserves recognition as one of the very best contemporary type designers. Since Twombly herself has not to date sought that recognition, Stock-Allen’s thoughtful and thorough research will help to provide it.”

CONFESSIONS OF A BOOKBINDER

by Jamie Kamph

Oak Knoll Press: New Castle, DE, 2015; 6 x 9 inches, paperback; 144 pages. $24.95

Tricks of the Trade considers what is not taught - but probably should be - about binding and rebinding books. Written for competent binders and knowledgeable collectors, it brings quirky but effective binding techniques out of obscurity and into the professional repertory. Here are tricks binders can use to polish and refine their bindings, as well as suggestions for repairs that may add value to collections.

Using photographs of her own bindings as illustrations, Jamie Kamph discusses decorative techniques, sources for design ideas, engineering concerns, and ways to both correct and avoid common mistakes. In addition to providing practical solutions, Kamph’s advice delves into the grey area between technical discipline and artistic invention.

An initial chapter, “How I Got Here,” follows the author’s history from writer and publisher to bookbinding student. While working in publishing, she was asked to write a magazine article about hand bookbinding, and she was hooked. She was introduced to Hope Weil and worked in her studio until she set up her own business in the 18th-century barn on her New Jersey farm.

Jamie Kamph has worked for preeminent collectors, including William Scheide and Robert Taylor. Her design bindings are in many private collections and such institutions as Princeton University Library, The Metropolitan Museum of Art’s Thomas J. Watson Library, The Pierpont Morgan Library, the New York Public Library, and the Bridwell Library at the University of Texas in Austin. Other bindings of hers have been exhibited in Guild of Book Workers’ and Designer Bookbinders’ exhibits. Her previous book is A Collector’s Guide to Bookbinding (1982).
